Workplace Practices

All team members and advisors are expected to:

- Promote ethical behavior in the work environment.
- Promptly report dishonest, unethical, or illegal activities by other members to appropriate parties.
- Comply with this Code of Ethics, knowing that failure to do so may result in disciplinary action.
- Ensure that the workplace is free from discrimination and harassment and respect diversity and every individual.

Reporting and Enforcement

Any breach of the above policy may result in disciplinary action.

Internal theft, fraud, or other serious abuses, such as accounting and auditing irregularities, affect everyone. In the most serious cases, the negative impact on a company's reputation and financial well-being can even lead to the loss of jobs. If a board member or advisor becomes aware of theft, fraud, or other abuses in the workplace, he/she should not ignore it.

If a team member or advisor suspects possible violations of the Code of Ethics or laws, such member has the responsibility to contact human resources or another responsible party at Veracity immediately.

Regardless of how any suspected violation is reported, there will be no form of reprisal for doing so. Veracity will investigate fully all matters related to alleged violations and take appropriate action. It is everyone's responsibility to help create and ensure an effective workplace. Team members and advisors are expected to participate fully in any investigation of alleged misconduct.
